"Whisperers" Threat

Los Santos (City Hall) -- The Office of the Governor and Lieutenant Governor have received word of active threats against Government Employees and Citizens of the State of San Andreas. A small group, known as the "Whisperers," have been hunting down and injuring Government Officials.

We are urging Citizens of the State to remain calm during this time. The threat does seem to be focused towards Government Employees, but we are unable to rule out that the threat could extend to regular Citizens of the State.

For now, avoid being alone, use caution, especially in quieter areas around the State. If you see something odd that looks out of place, such as a backpack, a cassette tape, paper, anything that looks odd - do not touch it, as this small group is actively using Arsenic. While Arsenic is generally not as dangerous unless consumed, we can not rule out that they may utilize other poisons.

If you have touched something odd prior to this press release, go to the hospital as soon as possible to be tested. Do not panic, Hospital Staff are highly trained and can assist you with any medical needs you may have.

If you see something, say something! Please utilize the Major Crimes Division's anonymous tip line if you have any additional information and do not feel comfortable utilizing your name.
