Pillbox Medical (Alta Street) -- Today at 3:30 PM Eastern Los Santos time Sandy Shores Medical Center was struck with a plane while in route to land at Sandy Airfield. It is unknown at this time the details regarding the crash itself. The plane struck the building and it began to catch fire and explosions broke out. It seems that the basement area of the medical center was the most heavily damaged. The San Andreas Fire Rescue will be conducting their investigation of the building to determine the extent of the damage. Upon the conclusion of the investigation it seems that toxic gases may have been found in the lower level. It is unknown at this time what may have caused the toxic fumes. The building is currently unable to be entered without proper breathing & eye equipment. It is unknown at this time the severity. No one was found to be in the building at the time of the crash. The morgue in Sand Shores also had no individuals in it. It seems that the main damage was to the structure itself. The status of the pilot is unknown at this time.

Sandy Shores Medical Center will be closed until the proper investigation has been conducted. We appreciate the cooperation of the citizens of the state as we work to resolve the incident.
